

Product Performance & Revenue Contribution

Revenue is concentrated among a relatively small group of products, and frequently purchased items drive most overall sales volume.

A small subset contributes large revenue share.